

Learning German in Darmstadt

An overview of free and open-access
German courses and language meet-ups

Darmstadt is a liberal-minded and open city which is on a good path to an inclusive community.

This very brochure shows that there are quite a number of offers leading to an atmosphere which allows for integration – provided that everybody contributes to it.

An important element is, as shown here with this brochure, the opportunity to learn German in an atmosphere of support and guidance.

Language is the key to education and it is essential to communication; furthermore, it makes personal encounters possible and strengthens relationships.

This little booklet Learning German in Darmstadt gives an overview of free-of-charge and open-access language offers in our city.

There are a lot of people who – as volunteers or within their jobs – are engaged in giving language trainings. I would like to express my personal thanks to them that they have taken over this important educational task.

Yours, Barbara Akdeniz
Mayor
Science City of Darmstadt

What you find here

The booklet Learning German in Darmstadt lists free-of-charge open-access language courses and language meet-ups which are mostly offered by volunteers and educational services.

This information and the website www.deutsch-in-darmstadt.de/en are a service of the Competence Centre for Learning German which belongs to the social welfare agency that is a part of Netzwerk ROPE e.V., NGO for Educational and Youthwork Services, supported by the Science City of Darmstadt.

Information about the offers

These offers are mostly directed to people without access authorization for regular courses or who cannot afford to pay for courses. They are also addressed to people looking for less intensive ways to study German.

The courses for Beginners and Advanced have a slower learning pace than intensive courses. Yet please note that these courses do not hand out certificates (like the Goethe Institute, telc or DTZ do). The language meet-ups offered concentrate on conversation and exchange in German.

The respective contact persons for the courses and meet-ups are listed at each offer under contact. Please refer all questions concerning the offers to the respective contact.

For up-to-date information about the offers, please see our website:
www.deutsch-in-darmstadt.de

Please note: All courses and language meet-ups are free of charge.

Learning with apps and online-courses

Learning with apps and online-courses is a good addition to attending a “live” course. On the following pages, we present a range of such learning tools which we have tested.

We would like to encourage you to try out these digital tools. Apps can of course not replace a live course, yet they do have advantages: You are able to learn in your own pace and choose the homework you would like to do. Furthermore, videos can lively explain the topics and interactive tasks can give you a direct feedback.

Here we present some offers that are suitable for learners at different levels and with different needs. The selection contains only apps free-of-charge and free online content from approved providers.

For more apps, please see our homepage:
